ANOTHER EXPRESS FROM BOSTON.

It is our intention to run another special express from Boston, on the arrival of the Cambria: If wind and weather, and all other circumstances, 'are favorable, we mean to beat our contemporaries most infamously, as our amiable Fourierite neighbor would say. The next intelligence will be of a very important character.

While we are thus preparing to afford every facility to the commercial community, in getting the foreign news to this city, the government is exerting itself to despatch the foreign mails to Boston. It has been determined to send the mail, for the steamer Britannia, on Sunday next, by an express, over the Long Island railroad, to leave Whitehall, South Ferry, at 3 o'clock P. M .- the mails to close at half past I o'clock. It is said that cars will be attached, for passengers for the steamer, and others. We shall issue an Extra Edition of the Herald, on Sunday, with the latest intelligence from all parts of this continent, and especially from Washington to go by

Mr. Polk's Message, in America and Europe. Mr. Polk's forthcoming Message is destined to produce a great sensation in Europe; more than any similar document, from any President, since the organization of the government. This opinion is expressed in all the foreign journals which have been received by the last steamer from Liverpool. They are looking with the greatest anxiety and deepest interest, for the position which Mr. Polk will assume on this important document. It is the Oregon question, principally, which creates this impression in Europe. England, from the plebeian to the patrician, is watching with the most intense anxiety the course and progress of this country; and particularly she looks with an almost instinctive dread to the declarations now awaited from the White House at Washington.

On the Continent of Europe, the same interest is manifested on this subject. Ever since the termination of the last great European war, a feeling of rivalry and jealousy has existed all over the Continent against England, as well on account of her monopohes in commerce and manufactures, as for her political power; while her recent wars and conquests in the East, have alarmed all Europe and the commonwealth of kingdoms. They are consequently glad, and sympathize with a nation such as the United States, possessed of the same elements as England in the character of its population, and transcendently superior to England in the physical resources of national wealth, extent of territory, compactness of dominion, and probable destiny.

We entertain no doubt that the Message of Mr. Polk will correspond with these sentiments and will body out a policy such as will astonish England, and surprise Europe. We have the best reasons for holding these opinions upon the course of the new President-not so much from the twaddlings and eternal chatter of the government organ under the regime of the highly respectable old woman who manages it, but from the character of Mr. Polk, and the information we have received from various quarters of the position he will take There are rumors, indeed, of strenuous attempts having been made to induce him to moderate the tone of the Message on the Oregon question, and thus to sink the spirit of that document. There is no doubt that the British government has instructed its Minister at Washington to seek for some modification of the position assumed on the Oregon question, in the Inaugural Address, since an additional exposition and declarations of the same principles in the forthcoming document, would embarrass still more the British government in its foreign relations, and only increase the general embarrass ment in which she is now involved in commercial, as well as in political matters. There is a dreadan alarm on this point in England, and this it is which is believed to have been the cause of those frequent cabinet councils which have lately been held, and not the question of opening the ports.

Similar feelings and sentiments are exhibited by the press in England, and there is an extreme sensibility shown by all the London journals, in relation to the developments of American opinion which have been published in the New York Herald; a sensitiveness quite characteristic of the general teeling in that empire. In the columns of the New York Herald, during all the last summer, and indeed study has been to promulgate and represent correctly the sentiments of the American people, and of this great Republic, in respect both to foreign and domestic topics. On no occasion, within the ten years of our existence, have we ever made a mistake on this head, and hence the importance given to all the views coming from the New York Herald, by foreign journals. It is true, a feeble and ridiculous effort has been made in London and Paris, as well as here in New York, by stockjobbers and debauched rougs who follow dancing women round the world, to injure the New York Herald and underrate its cha. racter as the established index of public opinion in this hemisphere. But our predictions on every great and important matter in politics, commerce, or religion, have too often been verified by the even to render it possible for us to be shaken or hurt by the puny efforts of the lazaroni of society in Europe or in this country. We have cause to be fully sa r eputation we have acquired, and our future care will be to deserve a continuance of the same public opinion.

Thus it is-Mr. Polk's message therefore, will, according to all accounts, produce a greater sensation in Europe than has been seen on any former occasion; and hence the necessity of the greater care which should be given to its composition and principles, in the present crisis of this republic.

ANTI-RENTISM .- There is some difference of opin ion as to the effect which the Governor's message will have on the progress of anti-rentism. Many suppose that the clemency extended by the Govern or, will tend to restore quiet and peace to the antirent districts, and others think that it will only add fuel to the flame. Our own opinion in the matter is decided. The outrages of the anti-renters, and the punishment inflicted, will teach them more prudence in future; but the spirit of anti-rentism is as deep, and more determined than ever It has assumed an undying and permanent hold on the population of the feudal districts, and their policy will be to carry out their principles by political action. We have no doubt that they will succeed in carrying out their purposes, and the landlords will get a better price by selling out their lands as soon as possible The corruption of the other parties, and the bargains made with them, will give the anti-renters

AFFAIRS IN MEMPHIS .- The great South Western Convention has adjourned sine die. It was in session four days, and closed just in the nick of time It had too strong a political aspect to effect much .-We believe that the shortness of the session, preventing any foolish outbreak of political feeling, and the mere recommendation to Congress, will have some influence upon those now assembling in Washington; but to what extent, it is impossible to cell. All these tariff, railroad, sugar, and cotton conventions possess one passable feature, and that is about all—they tend to exhibit the resources of the sections of the country in which they are

FASHIONABLE INTELLIGENCE.—The splendid Capt Rynders, who has been honored with the sobriquet of the "Don Giovanni" of the democracy, opens the tashionable season in this city, with a splendid ball, on Friday evening. We understand that it will be quite a gay scene, and all the new dances of the day will be performed on the occasion-the Polka. Mazourka, and various other dances. Several stated preachers of the gospel will be present, probably.

THE PRESENT CORPORATION - It is acknowledged on all hands, and conceded even by the friends of the party in power, that the present city government is the most inefficient and at the same time the mest extravagant that we have ever had, while the abuses which were complained of under former administrations have increased beyond all precedent, and the taxation has increased in the same ratio. As an instance of the apathy which has characterized them in every thing except taxation, we will mention two instances. Early in the year, an attempt was made to burn the old alms house in the Park, and lately the public buildings on Randall's Island were consumed by the torch of the incendiary; and in neither instance was the slightest effort made having in view the detection of the offenders, either by the offering of a reward, which might stimulate the police to exert themselves, or in any other manner-but the Corporation, with the greatest noncha lance, deliberately appropriated an additional sum of $150,000 to rebuild them. As an instance of the inefficiency, let our citizens look at the way in which the street paving has been mismanaged. Take Broadway, the most crowded thoroughfare in the city. There has hardly been a day during the past summer that this street has not been more or less obstructed by the Corporation artists. For five or six weeks, the block from Park Place to Murray street was entirely shut up; and to the passer by, the object of those engaged in reparing it appeared to be to keep it as long as they possibly could impassable See the condition it is in at present-enveloped in one mighty cloud of dust from Trinity Church to Broad street, causing immense damage to the costly goods that are for sale in that street, and rendering a promenade through it attended with the risk of los of one's sight.

In street cleaning, their inefficiency is likewise apparent. While the principal streeets, Broadway, Chambers street, and others, of the same class, are occasionally swept, such streets as Orange, Thames, Cedar, &c., are altogether unconscious of being visited by the Corporation brooms. At this present time, the gutters on each side of Thames street, are entirely choked up, and the stream of water which, at one time, flowed where the gutters used to be, has now taken a course directly through the middle. Is it not time for all the residents of this city, to throw aside politics, and all party spirit, and unite in electing men to carry on our city government, who will be guided only by the wishes of the people, and a regard for econ-

POLLY BODINE .- The case of this unfortunate woman occupied the time and attention of our Court of Over and Terminer for the last three weeks to no purpose; for yesterday, the Court, and the counsel on each side, arrived at the conclusion, that it was not possible to obtain, in this county, a jury of twelve men, who had not expressed or entertained an opinion as to her innocence; and they therefore thought it best to let the case go over for the term-have the venue changed, and the trial take place in anothe county. It was the opinion of every rational man that such would be the result, and the better plan would have been for the counsel of the prisoner to have acquiesced in the opinion which His Honor the Judge expressed many da/s since-that he did not think a jury could be obtained in this county, and which has proved to be correct-and have th saved many hundreds of individuals, who were called from their business pursuits to attend as jurors, serious inconvenience and embarrassment, and have saved this county some $2,000 or $3,000. As it is, this case has, 'on this last attempt to obtain a trial, cost our county at least $5,000.

OREGON-CALER CUSHING .- This statesman has taken his stand on the Oregon question, and is in favor of the American claim to the whole of that territory; and he has shown his sagacity, while Mr. Everett and Mr. Webster have taken the other side. Any American statesman, who does not take his position for the whole of that territory, will undoubtedly be stranded, and cast ashore. Mr. Cushing is destined to hold the same influence that Daniel Webster formerly held in this country.

DANCING-THE POLKA .- M'lle. Desjardins has opened her dancing classes for the season, at her residence, No. 74 Leonard street, where she teaches ladies to dance the Polka, and other fashionable dances, in a lady-like style-not the common Polka, but the Polka as it is performed in Paris and other European cities.

SIX YEARS OF PROSPERITY.—If no difficulty take Oregon question, we will have for the next six years a continued prosperity-a sort of rising tide in prices and in values-and fortunes may be made to any extent, provided our domestic and foreign politics remain in a quiescent state.

ARRIVAL OF THE ANTI-RENTERS AT SING SING. John Van Steenburgh and Edward O'Conner, the Anti-Renters, whose sentence has just been commuted, reached Sing Sing in safety about ten o'clock yesterday morning.

LATE FROM PORTO CABELLO.-The Carracas arrived at Philadelphia on Tuesday, with advices from Porto Cabello to the Sth inst. A letter dated

FATAL AFFRAY.—A fatal affray took place in the bar-room of the St. Louis Exchange last night, about 8 o'clock, by which Captain Joseph Carson came to his death from the effects of a pistol bull fired at him by Mr. T. M. Wadsworth.—The deceased survived but a might death from the effects of a pistol ball free at him by M. T. M. Wadsworth. The deceased survived but a minut or two after the shot was fired, the ball having gon directly through his heart. Mr. Wadsworth immediate ly surrendered himself to custody of the sheriff, wh took him to prison to await a preliminary investigation before Recorder Genois. There had been a previou difficulty between the parties, and report has it the Capt. C. had threatened the life of Mr. W.—N. O. Pice wars. 18th instant.

PARK .- A very fashionable audience assembled last Sheriden's celebrated and sterling comedy of the "Rievening at the Park, to witness the representa Sheriden's celebrated and sterling comedy of the "Ri-vala." Mr. Placide's personation of the character of the phlegmatic Sir Anthony, was most excellent. Mrs. Ver-non's Mrs. Malaprop, was, as usual, admirable, and eli-cited hearty and well merited applause. The Lydia Languish of Mrs. Bland is one of the cleverest and most charming delineations we have witnessed for a long time. It was characterized by archness, vivacity and wit, and will add to the well deserved reputation the fair actress has already won. The whole performance passed off with eclet.

This evening, the new comedy of "Time works Wonders," and the "Agreeable Surprize," are presented. We hope to see a brilliant and fashionable house.

BOWERY THEATRE.—The performances last night at the Bowery, drew together a very full house, and were received with hearty applause. Mr. Hill, as Seth Slope, was inimitably funny, and excited very general mirth throughout. Mr. Scott, in "Wallace," was likewise very successful, and was ably and emphatically well sustained by the great strength of the company attached to this Theatre. Cony and Blanchard, in one of their melo-dramatic pieces, concluded the evening's entertainments.

Greys," under the command of Captain McAdam, from Philadelphia, escorted by the politeness of a portion of our "Independent Guards," in citizen's dress, paid visit to this house, and occupied a conspicuous position in the eyes of the surrounding audience.

OLE BULL'S FAREWELL CONCERT .- We arrived at the Tabernacle but a few minutes after seven, and found it already filled to such a degree, that a seat of any kind was with difficulty to be got. Four thousand persons, it is computed, were present to hear for the last time, the soft, sweet tones of Gle Bull and his violin, for it is hard to separate them. We never saw a more gratified audience, or heard in one night's concert, so much that was calculated to gratify and enchant. Ole Bull richly merits the reputation he has acquired. Never before were such sounds heard from the violin in New York; under the bow of Mr. Bull it was made to give tones almost equal to the tenderest and most delicate strains of the uman voice. The children of the Institute for the Blind were all present at Mr. Bull's invitation, and as a return for this kindness to them, they united in singing a pleasing chorus, which added, if it were possible, to the rich entertainment of the evening. Miss Northall ought not to be forgotten for her share in the tuneful regale. She seems destined to become a favorite with New Yorkers, and her fine singing, and modest, yet self-possessed deportment, seems to render her deserving to be so. At the conclusion, Mr. Bull was greeted with rapturous applause, and several bouquets were thrown towards him. Apparently overwhelmed and literally bowed down by the weight of public applause, he came forward to respond to the loud calls of four thousand admirers of his skill. Taking up a nosegay which had been thrown to him, in his hand, and bowing low to the sudience, he thus laconically, yet in the most feeling manner, bid farewell to New York:

"Ladies and Gentlemen:—These flowers will fail, but the spirit which gives them will never fade away from were all present at Mr. Bull's invitation, and as a return the spirit which gives them will never my grateful heart."

Tremendous cheering followed this little speech, and the immense crowd, satisfied and pleased, departed.

ETHIOPEAN SERENADERS .- These inimitable persons tors of the negro character give another concert at Palmo's Opera House this evening. It is hardly necessary for us to say to those who have not yet heard their beautiful strains, that they will be well recompensed by paying them a visit. Their stay with us this time will be short, and the sooner those who have not yet heard them, avail themselves of the present opportunity to hear them, the better.

CHRISTIAN HUBER.—This celebrated violoncellist gave a soiree d'artistes, on Tuesday evening last; and his performances, on the occasion, were represented, in the Courier of yesterday, and we believe correctly, as being wonderful, entitling him to a high rank among the most distinguished musical artists. M. Huber was born near Strasburg, in France, and was, for several years, a mem ber of the Conservatoire in Paris, where he was awarded the first premium for musical composition, and for the delicacy with which he plays on his instrument; likewise, he was presented by the government with a splendid instrument as a proof of the manner in which they estimated his merits. When the great masters, Rode and Baillot, were in Paris, they witnessed M. Huber's performances, and they pronounced him to be without a rival, in the classical style. M. Huber gave lessons in the Conservatoire, where it is customary for each teacher to have only one class for his instrument. M. Huber's talents were so highly appreciated by the directors, Messrs. Cherubini and Beicha, that they requested him to give lessons on the piano also, and he was the only exception to the custom. In France and Germany, where M. Huber is known, his composition is looked upon as being perfect, and his style beautifully classic. This celebrated player will give his first Concert in this city to-morrow evening, at the "Apollo Rooms," and he will be assisted, on the occasion, by Mrs. Mott, Jr., who lately made such a successful debut; and, by Mr. Kyle, who is well known to be a distinguished musician; also, by Mr. Gibert—There will probably be a fashionable assemblage brought together on the occasion. did instrument as a proof of the manner in which they

GERMAN OPERA .- We are happy in being able to announce to the musical world of New York, that an arrangement has, at length, been satisfactorily concluded by which all the difficulties are removed which heretofore stood in the way of the appearance, among us, of the German Opera Company. We are informed of Der Freischutz, on the second Monday of December next, at Palmos Opera House, when a great treat may be expected by the lovers of the "Art Divine." In addition to the troups announced, there is another fine ar tist engaged, and coming from Philadelphia.

tist engaged, and coming from Philadelphia.

Oratorio or St. Paul.—Mendelssohn's magnificent Oratorio of "St. Paul" will be performed at the Tabernacle this evening, under the direction of Mr. Geo. Loder. Mrs. Valentine Mott, Jr. makes her first appearance on this occasion in oratorio, and will undoubtedly add fresh is caused to her already brilliant reputation. The chorusses will be sustained by about one hundred and fifty ladies and gentlemen, and the orchestra will be full and effective. A fashionable and crowded house will congregate to witness the chef d'entre of Mendelssohn.

gregate to witness the chef d'autre of Mendelssohn.

N. H. Bannister, the successful author of "Putnam," "Rookwood," "Champion of Liberty," and other established plays of great merit, is soon to receive a senefit at the Bowery. We are constrained to acknowedge this a flattering compliment, not only merited but well deserved. Mr. Jackson is a most liberal minded man, and this among his contributed acts, will not escape he favor of the public, or impair the confidence of those lesserving his attentions.

TEMPLETON.—This gentleman gave a concert on Tuesday evening in Brooklyn, which was attended by a large and fashionable audience. He also gave one in Newark last evening, and goes to Albany to-day, where he will delight a

The Keans are playing a most brilliant and successful engagement at the Howard Athenaeum, Boston. Their houses have been crowded to excess on every occasion, and the utmost enthusiasm has every where prevailed. On Tuesday evening the "Lady of Lyons" was enacted, in which play the Keans are without rivals. Mr. Joseph Burke gives his first concert in Albany this Invitation — An invitation was received to attend the second annual ball of the Empire Club, at Tammany Hall, on Friday evening next. Accepted.

After acting upon numerous other papers of little interest, the Board adjourned until Monday evening next.

Fracas in Wall strates—Flare-Up amono the Young Democracy—The "bulls" and the "bears" of Wall street were most agreeably surprised yesterday afternoon by an interesting fracas between the Hon Alexander Wells, member elect of the Legislature from this city, and the Hon Fernando Wood, ex-member of Congress. These "shining lights" mot nite pare near the Manhattan Bank, about one o'clock, when Mr. Wells immediately produced from the recesses of a capacious pocket, a beautiful and unique article, known in common parlance as a cowhide, and proceeded to apply it to the shoulders of his potitical friend. The stock jobbers rushed from their desks and bargains—clerks dropped their pens and left their books to take care of themselves—old apple women deserted their stands, while little boys stole their fruit—a cowhiding was about tsking place in Wall street, and all were determined to get a sight of the parties. The parties clinched and fell, and their friends then stepped forward and separated them. We are informed that this attack by Mr. Wells grew out of a letter which appeared a few days since, in the Washington Constitution, reflecting on his private and political character, and which he supposed Mr. Wood to have written. The full explanation of the affair will probably be given in a few days.

Broadway.—Is it not a delightful place—a glorious BROADWAY .- Is it not a delightful place-a glorious he supposed Mr. Wood to have written. The full explanation of the affair will probably be given in a few days.

Broaddown.—Is it not a delightful place—a glorious promenade? The wit, wissiom, and beauty of Gotham, here love to congregate. The philosopher, the poet, the statesman, the merchant and the artisan, all find food for enjoyment. Every nation is here ably represented, and the inhabitant of almost any country on which the sun shines can meet a friend or acquaintance in a morning stroll. A capital opportunity is therefore presented for the study of character, and the observing man finds much that is instructive, as well as amusing and entertaining. Great improvements have taken place within the last few months in this elegant street. Magnificent buildings have been and are in progress of rection—the windows of splendid warehouses have been decked with rich and costly fabrics, brought from far-distant climes, as well as the productions of American skill and ingenuity. The most frequented dry-goods stores—the best bonnet-makers, drass-makers, tallors, hatters, boot-makers, perfumers, are found in Broadway. Some of the toy and confectioner's shops are getting ready for Christmas and New Year's, and around their windows little boys and girls, with mammas and papes, are assembled, eyeing curiously the tempting and fanciful displays within. It has become almost useless to visit galleries of paintings, and exhibitions of soulpture, as the amsteur in the fine arts can see, at any time, through panes of giass, and in front of artists studies, which here abound, some of the finest specimens of modern art. Broadway is, in fact, the great curiosity shop of New York—but the humanity with which it is peopled, is, after all, the most worthy of attention. Great black eyes, swimming in their own etherial essence—mild blue ones, melting you with their softness and tendernoss—the proud and towering form of the wife and mother—the sylph-like figure of some blushing maiden—the artificial beauty, and the simple maid of nature—

RELIGIOUS.—The Rev. Dr. Max Libienthal, lately from Russia, will deliver a lecture, on Saturday morning next, at 10 o'clock, at the Synagogue, "Anchi Chesed," 38 Henry street.

The Burning of Prospect Hall.—This fine house, situated in Yorkville, and lately occupied by Mr. George Nowlan, was destroyed by fire on Tuesday evening. It was owned by Mr. Samuel Thompson, and occupied at the time of the fire, by Mr. Conrad Abelman. It was entirely destroyed, but most of the furniture was saved. Although there were many engines present, yet they were of no use, in consequence of the scarcity of water. Had there been any the building would have been saved. Insurance $6000.

FIRES.—A fire also broke out about one o'clock yesterday morning, which entirely destroyed the Black Horse Tavern.

At about half past four, yesterday morning, a barber's hose in Pacel street near Broschway was discovered to shop, in Pearl street, near Broadway, was discovered to be on fire; but, owing to the exertions of the firemen, i was got under, and but little damage done.

was got under, and but little damage done

DISEMBARKATION OF A MENAGERIE.—Packet ship St.
James, which arrived here a few days since from London, had on board part of Mr. Titus's, or "Van Amburg's Menagerie." Among the animals were five or six "Yorkshire Blacks," the greatest monster horses perhaps ever seen in this country. The process of landing them was somewhat interesting, and excited a great deal of curiosity. They were carried between decks, and only a temporary bulk head separating them from the steerage passengers.

Ladder, Falle.—We would direct the attention of age passengers.

Ladies' Fair.—We would direct the attention of our readers to the ladies' fair which is being held at the Minerva Rooms in Broadway. The praiseworthy purposes to which the receipts will be applied, (the redeeming of the debt of Transfiguration Church) recommend the fair to the notice of the well disposed.

Mysterious Afraia.—At a late hour last night, a young female was observed, by a policeman, to come out of a house of ill-fame in Thomas street, and proceed young female was onserved, by a policeman, to come out of a house of ill-fame in Thomas street, and proceed towards West Broadway, crying as she went along. The policeman, presuming that something was wrong, followed and accosted her, and inquired the cause of her grief. She, however, pail no regard to the interrigatories of the policeman, and pushed onwards towards the North River, the officer following for the purpose of watching her movements. On arriving at the foot of Duane street, she threw off her shawl, and would doubtless soon have committed herself to a watery grave, when the officer sprang forward, took her in charge, and conducted her to the Fifth Ward Station House, where she was locked up in a cell with some others. During the course of the night, she made an attempt to commit suicide by suspending herself to the frame work of the cell. Being discovered by the occupants, an alarm was raised, and a guard was placed over her. She appears to be about twenty-two years of age, but refuse to give any information with regard to her name or place of residence.

Police Intelligence.

Female Pickpocket.—Catharine Conley, alias Logan, was "spotted" by officer latterson, of the 3d Ward, about 10 o'clock yesterday morning, in Washington market. He saw her in the act of "sounding" and fingering the pockets of several ladies, at different parts of the market, when at last she "touched" a Mrs. Farless, of No. 7 Greenwich street, of a purse containing $10 75, when officer Patterson immediately arrested her. At that moment she was seen by Mr. James D. Strong to throw the moncy from her person. Mr. Streng, however, pieked it up, and Mrs. Farless identified the purse and money as her property. We know this woman to be an old pickpocket; she was sent to the penitentiary for three months, for picking the pocket of a lady in Fulton market, last fall. Mrs. Bell, of 45 Vesey street, had her purse stolen last Saturday week, containing $105, in the same place, and recognises this woman as the person who stood close by her in the market just before she missed it. This Catharine Conley owns two small houses back of the South Ferry, Brooklyn, where she resides. She has also a horse and wagon, and goes pedling on Long island. Committed by Justice Osborne for trial.

The Two Policemen.—James Bennett and James Gibbs are both fully committed by his Honor the Mayor, and held to bail—Bennett in the sum of $5000, and Gibbs in $5000, to answer the charge of grand larceny.

The New Captain.—Mr. William L. Wood (late Assistant Alderman) has been appointed by his Honor the Mayor, Captain of the 7th Ward District, in the place of Mr. Howell, who was removed by his Honor for smoking.

Disorderly House—Ann Eliza Odell, who has been keeping for some time past, at No. 118 Green street, a den of prostitution, and in the constant habit of inducing young and innocent girls to prostitute themselves—and only last week she caused the seduction of a very beautiful and interesting girl of fitteen years of age, named Sarah Nealis. Officer Lawrence arrested the old witch, and Justice Room held her to bail to answer.

Effects of Drunkeness—Last night, the child of John Armstrong, No. 37 Stone street, only five years old, was burnt almost to a crisp by the absolute neglect of the child's aunt, Mrs. McCarty, who lay at the time in one corner of the room, in a beastly state of intoxication, while the poor child's clothes caught fire, and it was nearly burnt to death. The child was taken to the hospital in a dying state.

Pitit Larceny—Johanna Keain, a tall, lanky, long faced, red headed woman, with a bunged eye, was charged by a countryman with robbing him of $15-she, however, denied the soft impeachment, and swore that she never saw the man before—consequently Jo was put through the "Tusking" operation, but finding no money, the magistrate though thest, in his profound wisdom, to send her to the penitentiary for five months, which she took with a smile, saying, that would just carry her through the winter.

State Prison Statistics.—It appears, from information politely furmished us by Owen Brenan, Esq., that from the 17th of October, to the 24th instant, 24 prisoners were discharged from the State Prison at Sing Sing, their respective terms of imprisonment having expired, were pardoned, and 3 died. There now remain in that prison 790 males, and 61 females, making a total of 851

Nov. 26.—John Josephs and Abraham Cummings vs. IV.

A. Burtis.—in this case it appeared that the defendant, in November, 1844, was engaged in building, and purchased a quantity of lumber from the plaintiffs, agreeing to pay for the same in good paper. The lumber was accordingly selected, and a draft tendered in payment therefor, which was accepted, and a receipt given to that effect, of which the following is a copy:—

"Received from W. A. Burtis and S. W. Hawley, a draft on Jacob Brush, dated October 16th, payable in three months, for $207, on account for lumber. Said draft we agree to take on our risk.

This paper subsequently proved of no value, and the plaintiffs contend now that they were defrauded, inasmuch as by this misrepresentation, they were induced to take the paper; and further, that he was aware of its character at the time of thus tendering it in payment to the plaintiffs. The case will be resumed to-morrow.

Brooklyn City Intelligence.

THE NAVIL SERVICE DISORACED.—We learn from good anthority, that thirty-four laborers employed in the Brooklyn Navy Yard were, a few days since, discharged by order of some dignitary attached to the establishment, and that their places were supplied by men who had shipped as sailed; on board the North Carolina. Such a high-handed measure is not only disgraceful to the naval service, but, moreover, is unjust to the poor men who had engaged to do the hard duty required of them for the wretched and inadequate compensation of one dollar per day. By what right or authority, or under what law, the authors of this iniquitous and disgraceful proceeding entered into such a compact, we are at a loss to ascertain; and we have some doubt whether the arrangement is as much intended for one of national economy as for personal aggrandisement and gain.

The New City Hall.—Gamaliel King, Esq., the ar

The New City Hall.—Gamallel King, Esq., the ar chitect of the splendid structure which is to be erected for the City Hall of Brooklyn, has politely furnished this office with a very fine drawing of the elevation and ground plan of this edifice. The contracts for every department of the building having been fully entered into, workmen will commence on Monday next to remove the walls which have so long stood in ghastly commemoration of the folly and stupidity of the founders; and in the year 1847 the people of Brooklyn will have a building which will do infinite credit, alike to the enterprise and public spirit of its citizens, and to the professional skill and chaste judgment of those who have been instrumental in bringing this long contested and much vexed project to a final close.

Melandely—We are exceedingly sorry to learn that the lady of Alderman Campbell, who was some time ago so much injured by the accidental explosion of a camphine lamp, as then seriously to endanger her life, but who subsequently was considered as under successful medical treatment, has recently relapsed into a state which renders her recovery exceedingly doubtful. Last evening she was unable to speak, and it is feared that the symptoms which she now indicates will ultimately be faral. The unfortunate sufferer is constantly and assidiously attended by Dr. Garrison, one of the most eminent, skilful, and experienced physicians in the county and it is now probable that other gentlemen equally celebrated in surgery, physiology and materia medica, will be consulted, for the purpose of saving a truly valuable life.

A brighter galaxy of fair stars than was presented by some of the fairest and most beautiful girls of king's county, has never before appeared, and their attendants generally—in orderly, quiet and correct deportment—could not well have been excelled by the habitues of the best conducted and mest fashionable ball rooms in Christendom. TARGET EXCURSION.—Fire Company No. 1, of Brooklyn, visited Newark yesterday on a target excursion, commanded by Horace Sprague, Esq., and under the name and title of the "Washington Guards." They returned last evening with their target effectually bored through, even to the entire destruction of the "bull's eye"—so masterly were the skots, and so completely efficient did the members prove themselves as skilful marksmen. An excellent entertainment was provided for them at Stewart's well known house, and on their return to this city last evening, they were liberally supplied with refreshments by Mr. Haires, proprietor of National Hotel in Fulton street, and by the landlords of one or two other equally renowned hotels. The prizes were awarded to Messrs. George Mallory and William Stears.

First—A fire took place in Sands street yesterday, in a building occupied by Mr. Anthony as a bakery, and by Mr. Way as a fruit store. The fire commenced in the basement of the premises, but ere much damage had been done, the gallant firemen of this city were in attendance, in large numbers, and, by the most prompt and indefatigable exertions, very shortly succeeded in subduing the flames.

Police ITEMS.—Darien Stewart was arrested on Tuesday evening, by officer McCormick, for riotous and disorderly conduct in Myrtle avenue. On making a solemn promise to amend his ways and join the temperauce society, he was discharged from imprisonment. Cornelius and Michael Ryan were taken into custody by the same wigdant officer, charged with committing an aggravated assault and battery on Mr. James Keenan, in Douglas street, while he was at work for a Mr. Jenkins of New York. They were fined five dollars each, on the payment of which they were permitted to go to their respective homes. A warrant was issued against a man named Harkham, and his wife, on the complaint of a Mrs. Hannah Stevenson, who accused them with having threatened to commit violence upen her, so that she considered her person in peril. The process was placed in the hands of General Storms, (not the famed brigadier and commissary of New York,) who will bring the parties before the police magistrates at ten o'clock this morning. Mr. Van Brunt, of Gowannus, made an affidivit against a man who had been in his employ, charging him with stealing a valuable overcoat on Saurday last. UNFORTUNATE.—A melancholy instance of the onimus most respectable and harmless persons, occurred at a nouse in Furman street yesterday, wherein a young female, of good fazily and connections, was detected in the commission of a theft, which, doubtless, she will regret during the remainder of her life. One of the poice officers of Brooklyn was called upon to investigate the affair, when the stolen articles (consisting of ear rings

Littleate Will.—A case is now before the Surrogate of this county—A. G. Hammond, Esq.—which involves the validity of the will of the late Rodman Bowne, who left property to a large amount, the principal part of which is claimed by Samuel Bowne, under a will made in 1832. The exceptions to it are that it was a temporary provisions during the terrors of the cholera epidemic during that year; and that the deceased intended to have, or supposed it was destroyed. The claim now set up to a portion of the property is made, we believe, by another brother of the deceased. The eminent counsel engaged

Case of Polly Bodine.

Circuit Court.

Judge Edmonds, Presiding.

Nov. 26.—George Carlin, who was called for further examination, was, at his own instance, relieved from serving, on account of his being so situated that his business would suffer in his absence while on the jury. The morning hour was occupied with the discussion of a very important principle relative to this case.

Mr J. R. Wistrin's interposed his objections to the previously declared opinions of the Court; and in a very able, learned and conclusively arranged argument, insisted that a juror called to the stand, could not by possibility be considered disqualified because of .is entertaining the belief that a murder had been committed, as alleged in the indictment. That there was, or ought not to be, any objection as to the admissibility of such a juror, upon any such pre-conceived opinions; and that although impressed with such a belief, might yet be thought and considered eligible—based as such an opinion might be, upon rumor, or newspaper intelligence; and farther, that the oath administered, requiring a true verdict upon law and evidence, was in itself, or per se, contradictory to any such supposed grounds of disqualification; and that, therefore, and irrespective of such former conclusions, he should still be ontitled to respect as a competent juror.

The counsel in behalf of the accused maintained an opposite judgment, upon the conclusive ground that an urder having been committed in the mind of a juror, implied an identification on the part of the accused, and that a juror called under such impressions, becomes at once disqualified; that his preconceived or prejudged opinions militates to his competency, and, heretofore, should be rejected upon such relative grounds.

1Mr. Jordan sustained the opinions advanced by his associ

cal fatigue in their laborious duties, as also the improbability of being able to procure the additional and necessary number of jurymen, moved a suspension of further proceedings. The Court, under similar impressions, signified its willingness to omit continued action in this matter, and discharged the number already secured in this very important and protracted trial, much to the satisfaction and relief of all parties really or indirectly converned in its issue. concorned in its issue.

The Court then adjourned until to-morrow (Thursday) morning at half-past 10 o'clock.

The last term of this Court closed on Saturday last, when Judge Betts delivered his opinion in the following cases, viz:—

tion made by the claimants to compel the libellants to give additional security for costs. In this case the Court decided that it was competent for the Proctor of claim-ants to make affidavits on which the motion was ants to make affidavits on which the motion was grounded.

William Graham and James Cunice vs. James Hoskins. This was a suit brought by the plaintiffs to recover compensation for services performed on beard the steamship Great Britain, while on a voyage from New York to Liverpool and back to this port. On the part of complainants, there was their own evidence. For the delence, it had been shown by the chief engineer that one of the men had been hired by him as a firemen for the passage from New York to Liverpool, and that the other had been allowed to work his passage thither, both of them being desirous to get to England; that one of them, in consequence of injuries received in Liverpool, was permitted to return in the ship; and the other, being likewise anxious to get back to this country, was allowed, by consent of Captain H., to work his passage back. The Court decided that there was no proof on the part of the plaintiffs that any contract of hiring had been made between them and the captain or master; and that, seconding to their own testimony, the Court could not take cognizance of the case.

The United States vs. George M. Weolsey.—An action brought to recover the sum of $320,000, being the amount of a penalty claimed for the violation of the embargo law, in January, 1808. The defendant was charged with having, on the 10th of January, 1808, despatched a ship from Jersey City to Liverpool, laden with produce of the United States.

A Card.-I was this morning attacked in A Card.—I was this morning attacked in Malistreet, by Alexander Wells, ma most cowardly and rufficulty manner; who, whilst my back was turned towards him, and at a moment when he knew I could not have supposed he entertained any such intention, attempted to strike me with a cowhide. Although he entirely faited, not having touched me with it, yet the fact of the attempt will be sufficient for his purpose. Unused to personal rencontres, and opposed to the blackguardism which seek, satisfaction for imaginary wrongs by resort to fasticulfs, I consider it so triumph to succeed in such brawls. This card is intended as an apology to the public, as well as a true and brief statement of the occurrence.

Par. Editor:—Observing the announcement, on Tuesday last, that a young lady was to make "her first appearance on any stake," at the Chatham Theatre, on the evening of that day, in the character of "Julia" in the Hunchiback, 'curiosity led ing thither to witness the result of the nudertaking. To say that it was highly auccessful, would be faint praise—the fair debutante achieved a trumph. A repetition of the piece was earnestly cell for, and announced to this evening. When the embarrassments and difficulties to which a person is subjected, and must encounter on a first appearance are considered, the friends of Miss Crawford will the more readily appreciate the compliments bestowed upon her by the audience becomes and sustain ment, and also to invite the judy-going public to witness the performance of this promising young lady, who is destined to be an ornament to the protession she has adopted, I respectfully ask you to insert this in your valuable paper.

Among the terms agreed upon, one is that the stockholders of the Worcester railroad are to receive six shares of the stock of the new company for ever; five of the old. The stock of the Worcester company is selling at about seventeen percent above par, and the stock of the Western railroad about three per cent below par. Five shares of the Worcester would, therefore, be prices, worth $582 -a difference of only $3 in favor of the Western.
